LC State: Idaho's Leader in Online Education

The LC State Teacher Education Division began offering an Elementary Education degree (grades K-8) fully online in the fall of 2019. The online program quickly has grown to 35 students and requires 79 credits of professional education courses, including a school-year internship at an elementary or middle school. Students will complete coursework for an endorsement in all subjects, K-8, and a minor and endorsement in a second teaching area, such as special education or literacy. Students who begin the online program during a fall semester may complete the degree requirements within four years.

LC State also offers Pathways for Accelerated Certification and Endorsement (PACE) programs online for elementary and secondary certification and endorsement for individuals working as para-educators or substitute teachers, or for people changing careers. Depending on the certification, a two- or four-year degree is required for entry into the PACE program.

Our online delivery is perfect for working adults, parents and those living in rural communities. Visit www.lcsc.edu/education for more details on the online Elementary Education degree and the PACE programs.

COMMUNITY LEADERS BY US

Meet Hailie Martell of Homedale, Idaho, who is one of the inaugural students in the Elementary Education online degree program.

Hailie commutes 25 miles to Nampa each weekday where she works as a Specialist in the Assessment & Testing Department at the College of Western Idaho. She says she started the program at LC State to become a teacher because her passion is watching students learn and grow to their full potential.

"The process has been easy to follow with support from my advisor," she says. "She sent me a program plan right away and has worked closely with me ever since, answering all my questions and concerns in a timely manner. I also love that I get to complete my program from home. I plan to teach in Idaho, my goal is to someday teach in my hometown!"
