

CONNECTED BY US

Meet Josh Eckert, director of sales for Inland Cellular.

Josh enjoys hunting and camping with his wife, Charlotte, and their children, Kannen and Alec. He also officiates high school and college basketball games when he isn't "Living Inland." He's been with the company for 19 years.

"It's my job to grow our business and build strong relationships with our customers as well as the communities we serve. This job is rewarding because I love this area and the people who live here and I get to bring technology and solutions to small businesses and local people

"I like that our company prides itself on giving back to our communities. Inland Cellular is a great example of what stewardship means for a business and I truly believe Inland and other like-minded businesses are the reason these communities continue to thrive."
