

ENTREPRENEURS BY US

Meet Glen and Katie Seekins, owners of Seekins Precision in Lewiston.

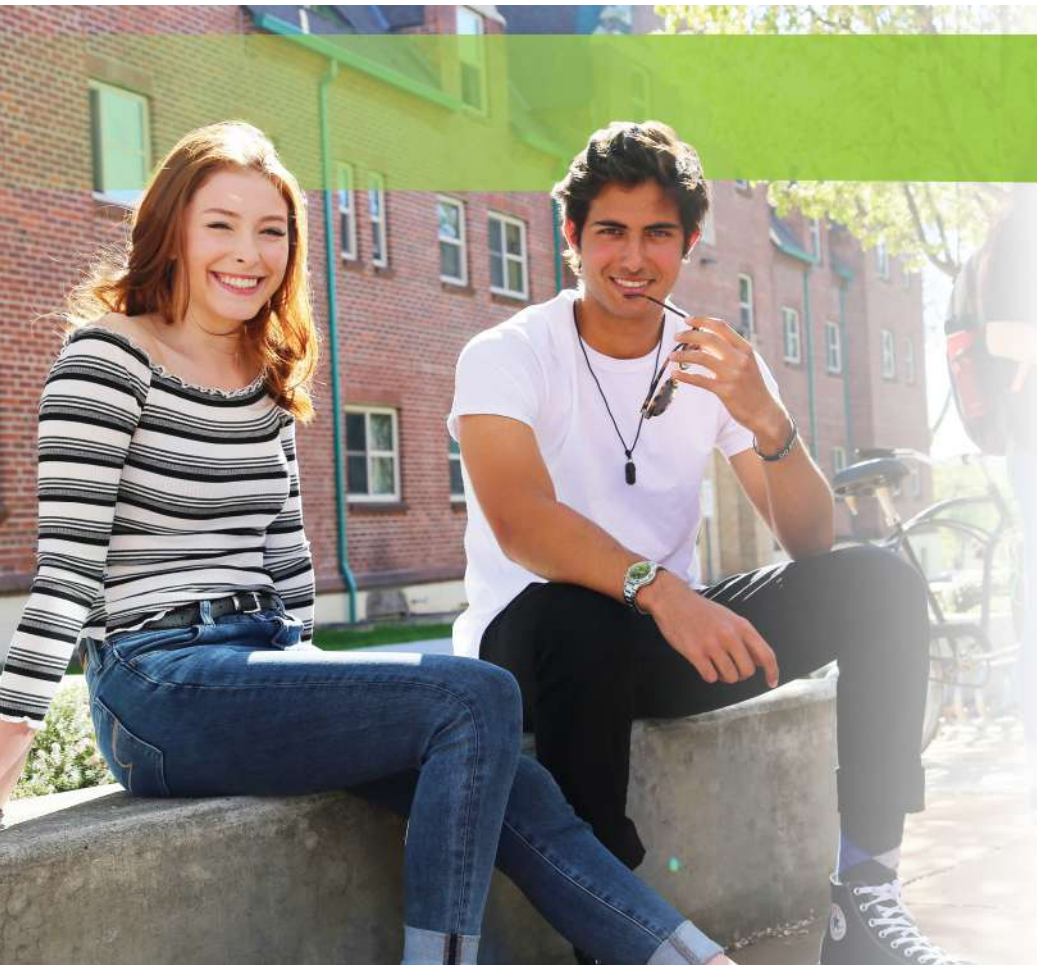

Lewis-Clark State College is proud of the accomplishments of people associated with the college, like Glen and Katie, and the contributions they make in our community. Glen is a 2002 graduate of LCSC with an Associate of Applied Science degree in Engineering Technology – Mechanical, and is the 2017 LCSC Alumni Association’s Alumni of the Year. Katie has served on the LCSC Foundation Board since May of 2015 and just recently upped for a second three-year term.

Glen and Katie both graduated from Lewiston High and live in Lewiston. They founded Seekins Precision in 2004, starting with the design of SP Scope Rings shortly after Glen broke scope rings during an unsuccessful deer hunting trip. Fast forward 14 years and the Seekins’ hard-working entrepreneurship has made Seekins Precision a thriving business that makes high quality products and produces major upper-end rifle lines.

What started out in a garage with two people, Seekins Precision now operates out of a $3 million, 25,000-square-foot plant near the Lewiston airport and has 45 employees.

An education at LCSC, an entrepreneurial spirit, and a desire to continue the American Dream make Glen and Katie true assets to our wonderful community.
