

CARED FOR BY US

Meet Amanda Atwood, CNA/Transport Aide at Tri-State Memorial Hospital & Medical Campus.

Amanda and her husband, Levi, have two daughters, Jazmine and Alana. Her hobbies include spending time outdoors with family, discovering new places and barbecuing any time of the year. At Tri-State Memorial Hospital, she is the first person patients see in the operating room. Her job is to make them as comfortable as possible. "I bring them warm blankets, allow the family members to give their love and answer any questions they may have to the best of my ability."

She also assists in the pre-op area and in the post-anesthesia care unit. "I love being able to help everyone with something even if it is the smallest task such as grabbing an ice bag," said Amanda.

"Everyone (at Tri-State) is so helpful from the directors to the CRNAs. All of them help each other no matter the task, so for me the most rewarding aspect of my job is the amazing teamwork."

"Tri-State Memorial Hospital truly has an amazing group of people tucked away in the operating room."

ECONOMIES BY US

"As a school board member I see that a healthy local business economy helps support school district bonds and levys. When people are local/community minded everyone within the community is better cared for. Shopping at and supporting local businesses is like investing in your community over and over and I think the rewards that come from that is a great return."

-Meghan Pierce, Clarkston business owner and school board member
